

The Great Fish of Māui

Māui pulls up land from under the sea.

My name: _____

A story from Māori, Aotearoa New Zealand

Retold from "Polynesian Mythology" (1855). The book carries the name of Sir George Grey, the colonial Governor, but most of the telling came from manuscripts by Te Rangikāheke (Wiremu Maihi Te Rangikāheke) of Ngāti Rangiwewehi, the Māori chief and scholar who lived with Grey to teach him the language.